

TABLE 1:
PROGRAM LOGIC – INDIGENOUS EVALUATION AND INDICATORS FRAMEWORK OVERVIEW

This Framework developed through the ATSIPEP informed the development of an overarching evaluation plan that will monitor, evaluate and report on: 1) the effectiveness and culturally responsiveness of the implementation of programs and services; and 2) community, organisational and service level evaluations of outcomes for suicide prevention programs and services; as well as 3) inform and evaluate complex multilevel and integrated services strategies. The Centre for Best Practice In Aboriginal and Torres Islander Suicide Prevention uses the indicators from the Strategy and the MHSEWBSF in setting indicators across areas.

Sourced from the National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Suicide Prevention Strategy	Long Term Outcomes	Performance Indicators	Social and Cultural Indicators
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Reduced number of suicides. • Sustained reduction in self-harm and suicidal behaviours decreased risk factors • Increased Indigenous Workforce 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Reduction in number of suicides • Strength based as well as risk reduction programs and services • Reduced family violence, alcohol and substance use, incarceration • Community plans are developed in genuine partnership with communities • Culturally competence embedded at individual, professional, organisation, system levels 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Self-determination • Resilient Empowered Individuals, families and communities • Strong community leadership and empowerment • Communities pathways to healing and recovery • Cultural resurgence, restoration and celebration • Reconciliation and Respect
	Intermediate Outcomes	Performance Indicators	Social and Cultural Indicators
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Promotion of mental health and social and emotional wellbeing • Reduced stigmatising attitudes • Increased rates of service use of suicide prevention programs and supports • Reduced rate of hospitalisations due to self-harm • Increased participation in healing and wellbeing programs 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Decrease in Indigenous people with high or very high levels of psychological distress • Increase in awareness and positive attitudes towards mental health • Increased uptake of suicide prevention programs, services, resources, supports • Improved data development, monitoring and reporting by service providers. • Reduction in rate of hospitalisations due to self-harm • All state/territory and national jurisdictions and all relevant sectors (health, mental, education, child services and justice demonstrate increased links and collaboration • Community suicide prevention plans developed and led by communities with partnership support • Increased workforce and support for Aboriginal controlled services 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Programs and services informed by MHSEWB Strategic Framework principles and domains • Genuine Partnerships between agencies and Aboriginal community controlled organisations • Based on Indigenous Terms of Reference and human rights • Cultural responsive services • Reduction in racism and dual accountability, increased Indigenous self-determination